

For the sake of copyright, I have removed all the PDFs of journal articles that were previously posted to this website. These PDFs were primarily provided for students to easily access the readings associated with the course. I do not own the copyright and have no wish to be sued. You can view the proper article citation under the Lesson Plans or in the Syllabus sections and look up the articles online, via your university library, or email the article authors for personal copies, if you wish to read the articles listed here.

Thank you for your understanding.